Section 3 - Key Requirements

Part A - Event Proposals

(12) An Event Organiser must contact the P&F Events Approval Team within the timeframes stipulated (see 'Event Approval Process' provisions below) prior to the event by submitting the proposal to seo@pf.uq.edu.au for consideration. The P&F Events Approval Team will assess the scale and risk rating of the event and determine the planning and approval requirements. The scale and complexity of events (including whether external people will be attending) will determine the investment of time and effort in the planning process.

(13) An event must not proceed without approval from the Events Approval Team.

Part B - Event Planning and Management

Risk Management

(14) Event Organisers are required to complete a Risk Assessment which includes all risks associated with the event, e.g., Health and Safety, Security, Environment, etc. Third party providers of individual activities or attractions must also provide a Risk Assessment to the Event Organiser prior to completion of their risk assessment for the event. This includes providers of amusement rides, beverage, or food vendors and when animals are involved.

Contractor Engagement and Management

(15) Event Organisers are responsible for the engagement and management of contractors involved in all stages of the event lifecycle. They must ensure all contractors have completed all appropriate UQ contractor inductions, including induction into the site prior to the commencement of work. Event Organisers must ensure contractors have a safe system of work for the work they are to undertake and have the appropriate competencies and licences. Event Organisers must outline in the risk assessment the involvement of contractors in the event and how their safety will be managed.

(16) Wherever possible, Event Organisers will utilise contractors who are engaged by P&F for in house services managed by P&F such as electrical, waste and cleaning etc.

(17) P&F reserves the right to deny any event application if Event Organisers and or their proposed contractors display or have a demonstrated history of any of the following at UQ previously:

(25) After assessment of the event application, the Events Approval Team will notify the Event Organiser if a Community Liquor Permit is required. The Event Organiser must complete the permit application and have it endorsed by P&F, prior to submitting to the OLGR for approval. A fee is associated with this application, payable directly to the OLGR by the Event Organiser.
