

Hospitality Procedure

Section 1 - Purpose and Scope

- (1) The University of Queensland (UQ or the University) is responsible for ensuring that funds are expended in the most efficient, effective and economic manner.
- (2) The purpose of this Procedure is to identify the various types of hospitality at UQ and the approval levels for each.
- (3) This Procedure applies to all UQ staff (including any person employed or engaged by UQ in a permanent, contractual, or voluntary arrangement) and Senate Members.

Context

- (4) For the purposes of this Procedure, hospitality includes but is not limited to, the provision of:
- a. food and beverages;
  - b. recreational activities (e.g. tickets to sporting or cultural events);
  - c. travel and accommodation (including taxis, rideshare services and bus hire); and
  - d. other incidental costs in providing food and beverages or recreational activities.
- (5) Hospitality at UQ is categorised as:
- a. Corporate hospitality – hospitality primarily for external groups and individuals not employed by the University.
  - b. Employee hospitality – hospitality with an internal focus, primarily for staff employed by the University.
  - c. Fee-for-service hospitality – hospitality at events that are organised by (or for) UQ and revenue is generated. These event/s will have an external focus and the revenue generated is beyond internal UQ funding.
- (6) Refer to the Reportable Gifts and Benefits Procedure and the Conflict of Interest Policy when hospitality is offered by a person or group that is external to UQ.

Section 2 - Process and Key Controls

- (7) Before incurring expenditure on hospitality, staff must determine whether the expenditure would be:
- a. considered reasonable by community standards; and
  - b. able to withstand public scrutiny; and
  - c. is essential to furthering the official business of the University.
- (8) Expenditure on hospitality must be:
- a. approved in accordance with:
    - i. UQ's Delegations Framework; and
    - ii. any additional approval required under this Procedure; and

- b. supported by adequate documentation recording the rationale and business needs for the expenditure to be incurred.

(9) Staff must consider the fringe benefits tax (FBT) implications that expenditure on hospitality will have for the University.

(10) The Finance and Business Services Division will review hospitality expenditure in UQ's financial systems (EMS Promaster and UniFi) to verify that University resources are spent for the intended and approved purpose.

Section 3 - Key Requirements

Part A - Fringe Benefits Tax (FBT)

(11) The provision of hospitality by UQ may have fringe benefits tax \(FBT\) implications, the consequences of which can significantly increase the cost of the hospitality being provided. Prior to incurring any hospitality expenditure, staff must refer to the relevant policies and procedures and finance resources (e.g. Hospitality Calculator) to determine if FBT obligations will arise. If FBT obligations do arise, staff should consider if alternative options are available that would not trigger an FBT obligation.

Part B - Tipping on Hospitality

(12) Consistent with expected standards of accountability and the efficient use of public sector funds, the use of UQ funds for tipping in Australia is not encouraged. Any tipping in Australia should be capped at no more than 10% of the service (e.g. the meal cost).

(13) UQ recognises that tipping culture differs between countries overseas. Where it is custom to do so, tipping at the average percentage for the country is acceptable.

Part C - Corporate Hospitality

(14) Corporate hospitality includes expenditure incurred by UQ:

- a. to host and entertain external groups and individuals not employed by the University (e.g. corporate clients and stakeholders) where no fee is charged to participants, or where the fees charged cover less than 50 per cent of the cost; or
- b. when UQ staff entertain donors, sponsors, collaborators, students, granting bodies, or other customers; or
- c. when UQ staff entertain external parties while on business travel.

(15) Expenditure on corporate hospitality must only be incurred where it is essential to furthering the official business of the University. Corporate hospitality must not be used as a substitute for general business meetings that would ordinarily be conducted in the workplace.

(16) The attendance of UQ staff at corporate hospitality events must be limited to those with a direct involvement in the business being conducted.
