

Flexible Work Policy

Section 1 - Purpose and Scope

Purpose

- (1) The University of Queensland (UQ or the University) is committed to maintaining a vibrant University environment, while also accommodating flexible work for staff.
- (2) The University recognises the importance of staff being physically present on University sites to:
- maintain a vibrant atmosphere;
  - maximise the student and staff experience;
  - build productive teams and strengthen organisational culture;
  - enable the exchange of ideas; and
  - maintain a functional campus/site environment.
- (3) At the same time, the University acknowledges that flexible work helps to attract, retain and support staff needs at different career and life stages. The University also acknowledges that there may be some environmental, financial, space-saving, productivity and health and safety benefits associated with different modes of flexible working arrangements. This Policy outlines the principles and legislative framework that underpin the University's approach to flexible work and the different types of flexible work that may be made available to staff. Staff may make a request for flexible work in accordance with:
- where eligible, a flexible working arrangement under the Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth) (Fair Work Act) – see section 3 below and the 'Requests Under the Fair Work Act' provisions of the Procedure.
  - UQ's workplace flexibility request process – see the 'Requests for Workplace Flexibility' provisions of the Procedure; or
  - UQ's local flexibility request process – see the 'Local Flexibility' provisions of the Procedure.

Scope

- (4) This Policy applies to all academic and professional staff.

Section 2 - Principles and Key Requirements

- (5) In this Policy:
- 'Flexible work' is any approved variation to the standard daily or weekly work pattern within a workplace.
  - A 'flexible working arrangement' is flexible work that has been approved following a request by a staff member under the Fair Work Act.
  - 'Workplace flexibility' is flexible work that has been approved following a request by a staff member made under this Policy that is not a request made under the Fair Work Act.
  - 'Local flexibility' means flexible work practices implemented by a Manager for a team or Organisational Unit that their staff may request to participate in.

(6) The University may consider requests for the types of flexible work set out in the Appendix.

(7) Flexible work may also be implemented by the University in response to matters, including but not limited to:

- a. unexpected or crisis situations;
- b. work health and safety reasons; or
- c. accommodating changes to the University's built environment.

Section 3 - Requests under the Fair Work Act

(8) The Fair Work Act grants a staff member the 'right to request' a flexible working arrangement if they:

- a. have completed at least 12 months of continuous service at the University<sup>1</sup>; and
- b. have one of the following circumstances:
  - i. are a parent of or have responsibility for the care of a child who is of school age or younger<sup>2</sup>;
  - ii. are pregnant;
  - iii. they provide personal care, support and assistance to someone that has a disability, medical condition or mental illness or who is aged and frail in accordance with the Carer Recognition Act 2010 (Cth);
  - iv. have a disability;
  - v. are aged 55 years or older;
  - vi. are experiencing family or domestic violence from a family member; or
  - vii. are providing care and support to a member of their immediate family or household who is experiencing family or domestic violence; and
- c. would like to change their working arrangements because of one or more of these circumstances.

<sup>2</sup> For clarity, in Queensland, a child is considered school age from 6 years and 6 months until they turn 16, or they complete Year 10 (whichever comes first).

(9) Requests will be considered by the University but may be refused on reasonable business grounds.

Section 4 - Other Requests for Flexible Work

(10) Staff who do not meet the 'right to request' criteria may request workplace flexibility or local flexibility.

(11) These requests will be considered in accordance with the requirements in the Flexible Work Procedure.

Section 5 - Principles

(12) The following principles underpin the University's approach to flexible work.

General Principles

(13) Where staff are entitled to make a request for a flexible working arrangement under the Fair Work Act, requests will be considered but may be refused on reasonable business grounds.

(14) If staff members do not meet the criteria in the Fair Work Act, they may make a request for workplace flexibility that will be considered on a case by case basis in accordance with the guidelines in the Procedure.

(15) Flexible work may also be implemented locally within a team, Organisational Unit or function. Staff members may make a request to participate in a local flexible work practice applicable to them that will be considered on a case by case basis in accordance with the guidelines in the Procedure.

(16) Ordinarily, a staff member may only request up to two amendments to their work arrangements per year.

Flexibility Principles

(17) Some roles and tasks require a physical presence in the workplace due to the nature of work undertaken, such as roles which:

- a. are 'hands on' in nature;
- b. involve face-to-face interaction with stakeholders and students (for example, teaching, student supervision, academic advising, and engagement) where the services cannot be offered remotely and/or the quality of service would be diminished if provided remotely;
- c. involve engaging with students during on-campus events and activities as a way of promoting student engagement, personal connection, and community belonging;
- d. involve the use of equipment, technology, samples, products, facilities and/or systems that can only be accessed onsite; and/or
- e. require the face-to-face supervision of other staff.

(18) Campus delivery is the default option.

(19) While some roles might accommodate some form of flexibility, the nature of certain roles and teams can limit the applicability of some types of flexible work. As such, some staff may have greater access to different modes of flexible work than others.

(20) Flexible work that incorporates hybrid working must balance time spent at home with having an on site presence. On average, more time must be spent on UQ sites than at home, unless there are exceptional circumstances which prevent this from occurring.

(21) Decisions about meeting organisational objectives (for example, decisions about modes of course delivery) should be made to maximise organisational outcomes rather than on the flexibility requirements or preferences of individual staff members.

(22) Performance is defined by outcomes and achievements. The University expects that staff will fulfill the requirements of their role and work in the interests of the University, irrespective of when and where work is undertaken.

(23) Flexible working arrangements, approved workplace flexibility and local flexibility are temporary and do not override the terms of employment set out in a staff member's contract of employment.

Staff Responsibilities

(24) Staff who have a flexible working arrangement under the Fair Work Act, approved workplace flexibility or approval to participate in local flexibility:

- a. are responsible for adhering to relevant work, health and safety requirements, including adhering to the principles of the Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy when working from home;
- b. will assume the costs of additional equipment/facilities not already supplied by the University based on role

- specific requirements and of any home and contents insurance cover required for additional equipment/facilities that they purchase for the purpose of undertaking the arrangement;
- c. may be required to modify their working arrangements to participate in planned activities, events or meetings and during specific periods of peak activity where work is required to be conducted on site;
  - d. are required to clearly advise others of their availability and working timeframes (for example, through email, out of office notifications and other technological communication methods);
  - e. are expected to be contactable and available during agreed work times;
  - f. will comply, if they are a professional staff member, with the Attendance, Hours of Work and Overtime \(Professional Employee\) Procedure when working from home;
  - g. will access Personal Leave (Sick and Carer's) when working from home, if they are not fit for work, because of personal illness or injury, or if they need to provide care or support to a member of the staff member's immediate or extended family, household, or significant other;
  - h. may have office allocations and/or other space and facilities adjusted accordingly;
  - i. will be paid at ordinary rates, if voluntarily working outside the standard spread of hours (including weekends), set out in UQ's Enterprise Agreement as part of their flexible working arrangement, approved workplace flexibility or local flexibility; and
  - j. must otherwise work within the span of hours applicable to their position in the Enterprise Agreement, unless the approval of their Manager has been obtained in advance.

Management Responsibilities

(25) Executive Leaders are responsible for determining the feasibility of different types of flexible work within their organisational context. Feasibility considerations should be based on the role and team requirements within functional areas and/or teams rather than personal preferences or views.

(26) Managers are responsible for determining whether to approve or deny requests for flexible work.

(27) Advertised roles should include clear information about the potential applicability of flexible work options so that potential candidates can make an informed choice before applying for a position.

(28) A staff member will not be disadvantaged by requesting or being afforded access to flexible work.

Duration and Review

(29) Flexible working arrangements under the Fair Work Act, approved workplace flexibility and local flexibility:

- a. can be requested and implemented for up to 12 months at a time, which may include a trial period (usually three months) to determine whether it meets the needs of both parties;
- b. can be extended by agreement at the end of the 12 month period, for a further 12 months if a request is made by the staff member (including by way of discussion with their Manager) as set out in the Procedure;
- c. will be reviewed regularly by the staff member and their Manager to determine ongoing viability (which may occur during the Annual Performance & Development review process). This may result in amendments or cessation;
- d. can be ceased at a Manager's discretion (unless a notice period set out in the Enterprise Agreement applies to the particular staff member), including if the arrangement is no longer workable and discussions have been unable to resolve the issues, or for performance related reasons; and
- e. do not transfer from one position to another.

Requests to Work from an Interstate or Overseas Location

(30) Due to tax implications, insurance requirements and other considerations, requests for flexible work that involve working from an international location will be permitted only in exceptional circumstances. Managers will not consider such a request until the staff member has provided their Manager with confirmation that the proposal has been considered and received preliminary approval from an officer at management Level 2 or above.

(31) Requests for flexible work that involve working from an interstate location for extended periods of time and/or as a principal place of work will only be permitted in exceptional circumstances. Managers will not consider such a request until the staff member has provided their Manager with confirmation that the proposal has been considered and received preliminary approval from an officer at management Level 3 or above.

Role of Human Resources Division

(32) The Human Resources Division (HR) has a role in advising Managers and supporting staff regarding the application of this Policy and will provide support when Managers are considering denying a request for a flexible working arrangement. HR will monitor the implementation of the Policy including assessing consistency of approach across the University and any concerns raised.

Section 6 - Roles, Responsibilities and Accountabilities
