

Freedom of Speech and Academic Freedom Policy

Section 1 - Purpose and Application

Purpose

- (1) The University of Queensland (University) is committed to the protection of freedom of speech and academic freedom.
- (2) The University's commitment to academic freedom and freedom of speech enables the pursuit of truth through a focus on the advancement and dissemination of knowledge, in support of the University's mission.
- (3) In the pursuit of truth, the University encourages the values of integrity, courage and respect and inclusivity.
- (4) In support of this commitment, the University adopts the principles for the protection of freedom of speech and academic freedom in section 2 (Principles) and declares its commitment to upholding these Principles.

Note: These Principles are based on 'A Model Code for the Protection of Freedom of Speech and Academic Freedom in Australian Higher Education Providers', attached to the 'Report of the Independent Review of Freedom of Speech in Australian Higher Education Providers' dated March 2019 by the Hon. Robert S French AC.

Application

- (5) The University will have regard to the Principles in the drafting, review or amendment of any policy or procedure.
- (6) Nothing in this Policy impacts the validity and enforceability of any policy or procedure of the University in force at any time, and no cause of action arises from an alleged breach of the Principles.
- (7) For clarity, the University of Queensland Enterprise Agreement sets out the rights and responsibilities of staff in relation to the exercise of intellectual freedom (Academic Freedom).

Section 2 - Principles

- (8) The University endorses the following Principles for the protection of freedom of speech and academic freedom, subject to obligations imposed by law and to reasonable and proportionate regulation:
  - a. staff and students at the University should enjoy freedom of speech on land of the University, or in connection with a University activity;
  - b. recognising that the University is a place where people should be free to express themselves, staff and students should enjoy the freedom to protest and disagree;
  - c. speech of staff and students on land of the University or in connection with a University activity should not constitute misconduct or attract any penalty by reference only to its content;
  - d. public comment by staff in their personal capacity should not be constrained by reason of their employment by the University;

- e. staff and students at the University should enjoy academic freedom;
- f. the exercise of academic freedom by staff and students should not constitute misconduct or attract any penalty;
- g. external visiting speakers and invited visiting speakers should be able to seek permission for the use of University land or facilities;
- h. external visiting speakers and invited visiting speakers should not be refused permission solely on the basis of the content of the proposed speech by the visiting speaker; and
- i. the University may take steps to ensure that all prospective students in any of its courses have an opportunity to be informed of the content of those courses. Staff must comply with any policies and procedures supportive of the University's duty to foster the wellbeing of staff and students. However, staff are not precluded from including content solely on the ground that it may offend or shock any student.

Section 3 - Roles, Responsibilities and Accountabilities

Academic Board

(9) The Academic Board is responsible for promoting the principles for the protection of freedom of speech and academic freedom.

Policy Owners

(10) Policy Owners are responsible for giving regard to the principles for the protection of freedom of speech and academic freedom in the drafting, review or amendment of any policy or procedure.

Section 4 - Monitoring, Review and Assurance

Academic Board

(11) The Academic Board is responsible for monitoring the effectiveness of this Policy and advising the Vice-Chancellor and President and Senate from time to time on its effectiveness and on matters concerning the protection of freedom of speech and academic freedom at the University.

Freedom of Speech Assessment Group

(12) The Freedom of Speech Assessment Group conducts initial and final assessments of new or revised policies and procedures to assess whether the policy or procedure has had regard to, and is compatible with, the Principles for the Protection of Freedom of Speech and Academic Freedom.

Section 5 - Recording and Reporting

(13) All assessments undertaken by the Freedom of Speech Assessment Group will be recorded in University systems. Any new or revised policies and procedures that are not considered compatible with the Principles for the Protection of Freedom of Speech and Academic Freedom will be referred to the Senate Governance Committee for consideration.

Section 6 - Appendix
